

WalkMe Unveils WalkMe(X): The Premier Contextual Al Copilot Designed For The Enterprise

June 18, 2024

Uniquely suited for Al transformation, the new cross-app copilot democratizes Al for every employee, driving unparalleled productivity

SAN FRANCISCO, June 18, 2024 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- WalkMe (NASDAQ: WKME), a leading provider of digital adoption solutions for effectively navigating technology change, today announced the launch of WalkMe<sup>X</sup>, the world's first and only copilot with the context to meet every user with the next best action for any workflow, across any application. WalkMe<sup>X</sup> further amplifies WalkMe's mission to bridge the gap between humans and technology with "AI that everyone gets."

Generative AI isn't the plug-and-play tool many believe it to be. For companies to realize the full potential of AI, it needs to be used every day – by everyone. WalkMe<sup>X</sup> is an always-on copilot that offers proactive AI assistance without any prompting or app-switching required. Unlike other AI tools limited to specific applications and requiring extensive user input, WalkMe<sup>X</sup> uses its deep contextual understanding to proactively assist users right at the moment of need, suggesting the next best actions across any application and workflow.

"Over the past decade, WalkMe has built a deep understanding of how people interact with technology in the enterprise," said Dan Adika, CEO & Co-founder of WalkMe. "By combining our patented AI technology, DeepUI, with the power of general purpose large language models, we've created a copilot that can understand a user's context and intent, and provide personalized assistance right in the flow of work."

Built for the ultimate copilot user experience, WalkMe<sup>X</sup> is:

- Contextual: WalkMe<sup>X</sup> knows the user and understands their current tasks, making it an intuitive aid that aligns with user objectives.
- Universal: WalkMe<sup>X</sup> extends to any web app with always-on AI assistance across any workflow.
- Proactive: WalkMe<sup>X</sup> offers real-time, relevant recommendations.
- Accessible: WalkMe<sup>X</sup> caters to employees of all technical levels, ensuring everyone can leverage Al capabilities effectively.
- Actionable: WalkMe<sup>X</sup> provides the next best steps tailored to the user's immediate goals, enhancing task efficiency and accuracy.

WalkMe<sup>X</sup> builds on WalkMe's broader Digital Adoption Platform (DAP), giving full control to customize the copilot experience with WalkMe's unmatched DAP analytics suite to manage adoption, usage, and results. This latest offering is designed to meet the challenges of successful Al transformation at scale.

"WalkMe X is a leading example of an important advancement in the journey towards effective digital transformation," said Lee Merovitz, Managing Director and US Change Services Practice Leader at Deloitte Consulting LLP. "Its contextual capabilities and proactive assistance align with our vision to transform how the workforce engages with technology. The pace of change is constant, and things will never again change as slowly as they do today. The opportunities presented by offerings like WalkMeX can support organizations as they navigate this reality."

"Generative AI has immense potential, but only if everyone is using it, every day, in the right ways," said Aaron Purcell, Managing Director & Innovation Leader at KPMG. "WalkMe is being heavily leveraged to support our Generative AI strategy at KPMG. WalkMe Xs ability to use context to serve up GenAI capabilities to our employees can significantly accelerate the value we get from these tools."

"The rapid rise of generative AI is exciting, but adoption is key to unlocking its true value," said Steffaney Zohrabyan, Sales Enablement Innovation & Insights at Cisco. "WalkMe X acts as a universal copilot, making AI proactive, accessible, and actionable, and empowering people to fully participate in this transformation."

"Contextual intelligence and omnipresence across the digital enterprise, positions WalkMeX right where users are most likely to benefit from Al capabilities infused in their work," said Gina Smith, PhD, Research Director, IT Skills for Digital Business Practice at IDC. "By understanding behavior and intent and providing highly relevant assistance right when and where it's needed across truly any application is certainly innovative. These capabilities provide a human-centric advantage."

Designed for All Teams, Across All Workflows, WalkMe<sup>X</sup> helps:

- Sales boost rep productivity, accelerate sales cycles, improve data quality, and automate administrative tasks
- HR improve compliance, increase employee engagement, and automate routine tasks across common HR workflows with

- greater completion rates
- IT shorten ticket resolution, reduce cost to serve, alleviate administrative burden, and improve proper use across the IT tech stack
